2006 HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

Larry Clausen, OD, EdD Doctor of Ocular Science

Dr. Clausen served as the President of the New England College of Optometry for ten years, leaving that position in 1999. Following this appointment Clausen became Vice President of Academic Affairs at Pacific University in Oregon, and subsequently accepted a fellowship at the Wenzhou Medical College in the People's Republic of China. During his stay in China he was appointed as international consultant to the Bureau of Education for the municipal government of Wenzhou. In 2004, China's State Administration of Foreign Affairs awarded Clausen its prestigious Friendship Award, the highest honor that China confers to foreign experts. He now serves as the Dean of Allied Health and Science at Portland Community College, Oregon's largest institution of higher education.

Jerald Strickland, OD, PhD Doctor of Humane Letters

A graduate from the School of Optometry at Indiana University, Dr. Strickland has held various academic positions throughout his career. He currently serves as Assistant Vice Chancellor for International Studies and Programs with the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges and has received such awards as the Texas Optometric Association's Distinguished Service Award, Optometrist of the Year and the Spirit of Philanthropy award from Indiana University. Dr. Strickland has played a pivotal role in international optometry and has been recognized with the Presidente de Honor Award from the Universidad de LaSalle, Bogota, Columbia. In 2001, he was elected as the founding President of the Board of Trustees for the World Optometric Foundation, Inc. This group serves as the fundraising arm of the World Council of Optometry.

The Optometric Oath*

With full deliberation I freely and solemnly pledge that:

I will practice the art and science of optometry faithfully and conscientiously, and to the fullest scope of my competence.

I will uphold and honorably promote by example and action the highest standard, ethics and ideals of my chosen profession and the honor of the degree, Doctor of Optometry, which has been granted me.

I will provide professional care for those who seek my services, with concern, with compassion and with due regard for their human rights and dignity.

I will place the treatment of those who seek my care above personal gain and strive to see that none shall lack proper care.

I will hold as privileged and inviolable all information entrusted to me in confidence by my patients.

I will advise my patients fully and honestly of all which may serve to restore, maintain or enhance their vision and general health.

I will strive continuously to broaden my knowledge and skills so that my patients may benefit from all new and efficacious means to enhance the care of human vision.

I will share information cordially and unselfishly with my fellow optometrists and other professionals for the benefit of patients and the advancement of human knowledge and welfare.

I will do my utmost to serve my community, my country and humankind as a citizen as well as an optometrist.

I hereby commit myself to be steadfast in the performance of this my solemn oath and obligation.

**Adopted by the American Optometric Association and by the Association of Schools and Colleges of Optometry*

Academic Heraldry

The caps, gowns and hoods worn at College functions have their origins in the robes worn by monks and students in the middle ages to keep out the cold and damp. Today, the academic regalia have been standardized by tradition and agreement among institutions of higher learning.

The gowns for bachelor degrees have long, pointed sleeves and are worn closed. Masters degree holders wear gowns with oblong sleeves open at the wrist. The gown may be worn open or closed. Gowns for the doctoral degree carry long velvet panels down the front and have three velvet bars on the full sleeves. The velvet may be black or of a color distinctive to the field of study for which the degree is given. Gowns are usually black, but a few institutions now prescribe colors representative of the school.

Caps, also called mortarboards, may be of cloth or, for the doctoral outfit, velvet. The tassel is black or of a color appropriate to the field of study. Doctoral tassels may be gold.

The colors on the hoods provide the institutional identity and signify the field of study. The style of the hood is specific to the degree level, with doctoral hoods being larger, with wider velvet borders, and with a panel at the back. The silk lining of the hood is in the institutional colors and the velvet borders signify the field of the degree. Commonly seen colors are:

Arts, letters, humanities:	white
Architecture:	brown
Dentistry:	lilac
Education:	light blue
Law:	purple
Library science:	lemon yellow
Medicine:	green
Optometry:	seafoam green
Philosophy:	dark blue
Public Administration:	peacock blue
Public Health:	salmon pink
